

The Law of Georgia on Conflict of Interest and Corruption in Public Institutions establishes basic principles of prevention, discovery and elimination of conflict of interest and corruption in public institutions and basic principles of responsibility of perpetrators of corruption, and the basis and mechanisms of legal regulation.

This Law also regulates the conditions and mechanism for the submission of asset declarations by officials and for the monitoring of submitted declarations, as well as the fundamentals of whistleblower protection and the general rules of ethics and conduct.

Document is available only in Georgian.